LARM is a risk management pool that offers coverages and risk management services to Nebraska cities, villages, and other governmental agencies. It is made up of over 170 Nebraska governmental agencies that have joined together through the Nebraska Intergovernmental Risk Management Act to share the cost of risk.

Members of LARM include Nebraska cities, villages, and other governmental agencies.

In the 1980s, public entities faced an insurance crisis as rates were skyrocketing and some policies were being cancelled. A study by the League of Nebraska Municipalities (LONM) determined that since the availability of carriers was limited, a group of local municipalities should form their own risk management pool. In 1989, LARM offered an endorsed insurance program for municipalities. In 1995, the Nebraska Department of Insurance granted LARM its "Certificate of Authority" to operate as a risk management pool.

LARM is governed by a Board of Directors made up of 15 elected and appointed officials that are elected from within and by the LARM membership. LONM Executive Director Lynn Rex serves as LARM's Administrator as provided in LARM's Interlocal Agreement. The Nebraska Department of Insurance regulates and oversees the operation of risk management pools in Nebraska.

LARM provides coverage for Workers Compensation, Property, Boiler and Machinery, General Liability, Public Officials Liability, Law Enforcement Liability, Automobile, Crime, and Cyber-liability. Additional coverage is available, including but not limited to, Liquor Liability, Special Events, Bonds, Canine, Sewer, and Skateboard Parks.

LARM provides an annual coverage review and will provide contract reviews and suggest risk transfer techniques. LARM provides 24-7 online risk management training and other on-site training for staff members. Loss control newsletters, $500 safety grants, and on-site risk management evaluations also are available.
